

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a novel smooth muscle myosin phosphate associated kinase and to methods of identifying compounds useful in treating smooth muscle disease using same.